About ELI

The European Law Institute (ELI) is an independent, democratic, membership-based organisation founded on 1 June 2011. Its mission is to conduct research, offer recommendations, and provide guidance on European legal development, operating across all branches of law. ELI seeks to bridge gaps between legal cultures and between public and private law.

ELI's work centers around projects, which can be long-term in nature or focused on timely responses to proposed legislation, and is carried out with consultation from its broad network of over 1,700 Individual Members, 160 Institutional Members.

Notable Institutional Members are the European Parliament, the Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU), the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law (UNCITRAL), the International Institute for the Unification of Private Law (UNIDROIT), several supreme courts in Europe, law firms, faculties and professional associations, including the Council of Bars and Law Societies of Europe

(CCBE), the Council of the Notariats of the European Union (CNUE), the European Network of Councils for the Judiciary (ENCJ) and the Network of the Presidents of the Supreme Judicial Courts of the European Union.

Since its inception, the Institute has developed strong collaborative ties with the ALI, the United States Uniform Law Commission (ULC) and the Uniform Law Conference of Canada (ULCC). Additionally, it maintains close working relationships with the European legislature, national ministries of justice, key non-governmental organisations (NGOs), and other sector-specific stakeholders.

The Institute's Individual Members represent a diverse spectrum of the legal community, including members of the bar, judiciary, academia, and other legal professions.

ELI receives significant support from European Union institutions and the University of Vienna, where its Secretariat is based.

ear ELI Members and Friends

In this Activity Report, we take the opportunity to reflect on the progress achieved over the past twelve months, acknowledging the transformations and challenges that have shaped our journey. As the Voice of the European Legal Community, ELI remains steadfast in its commitment to making a meaningful contribution to the legal landscape, particularly in addressing emerging issues that impact both legal practice and society at large. From tackling complex topics like algorithmic contracting, which continues to present novel challenges in the digital age, to reinforcing the foundational principles of judicial independence, we have worked diligently to ensure that the legal framework evolves to meet contemporary needs.

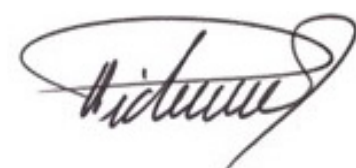

Throughout this year, ELI's achievements have been the result of the collective efforts of all those who support and contribute to our mission. These accomplishments were only possible thanks to their unwavering dedication.

A special mention must go to our Vice-Presidents, Anne Birgitte Gammeljord and Sir Geoffrey Vos, whose leadership and guidance have been instrumental in steering ELI's activities. We are also deeply grateful to our Treasurer, Prof Dr Pietro Sirena, whose financial expertise ensures the sustainability of ELI's operations. Additionally, the valuable contributions of our Executive members

– Prof Dr Teresa Rodriguez de las Herras Ballell, Dr Aneta Wiewiórska-Domagalska, and Supreme Court Judge Sylvaine Poillot Perruzzetto – have greatly enhanced the depth and breadth of our work.

The dedicated efforts of our Scientific Director, Prof Dr Christiane Wendehorst, have been integral to the success of our projects, while our Secretary General, Dr Vanessa Wilcox, has been pivotal in the smooth coordination and implementation of our initiatives. The ELI Secretariat, along with our Council, Reporters, Members Consultative and Advisory Committee members, and Hubs and SIGs also deserve our gratitude for their consistent contributions.

Together, these collective efforts have propelled ELI forward, allowing us to shape the legal discourse and promote positive change within the European legal community and beyond. The partnerships and collaborations we have built this year continue to strengthen our resolve and commitment to enhancing the quality of law for the betterment of society.

Prof Dr Pascal Pichonnaz
ELI President

Funding

Income Streams

In 2024, ELI's income of EUR 709,800 saw a 16% growth. Its accounts are anticipated to close with a positive balance of EUR 27,300. The University of Vienna, which has hosted ELI's Secretariat since its inception, provided 39% of the 2024 budget, increasing by 14% from €262,500 to €300,000. Income from Membership fees remained stable, accounting for 21% of the total funding at €160,100. The European Commission's Operating Grant, amounting to €210,000, rose by 5% and represented 27% of ELI's total income.

Other sources, including event-related funding, made up 13% of the total, representing a 6% increase. ELI is particularly grateful to the Chairs of its Irish Hub for securing significant funding for the 2024 Annual Conference held in Dublin. Additionally, ELI received a project grant from the International Centre of Expertise in Montreal on Artificial Intelligence (CEIMIA).

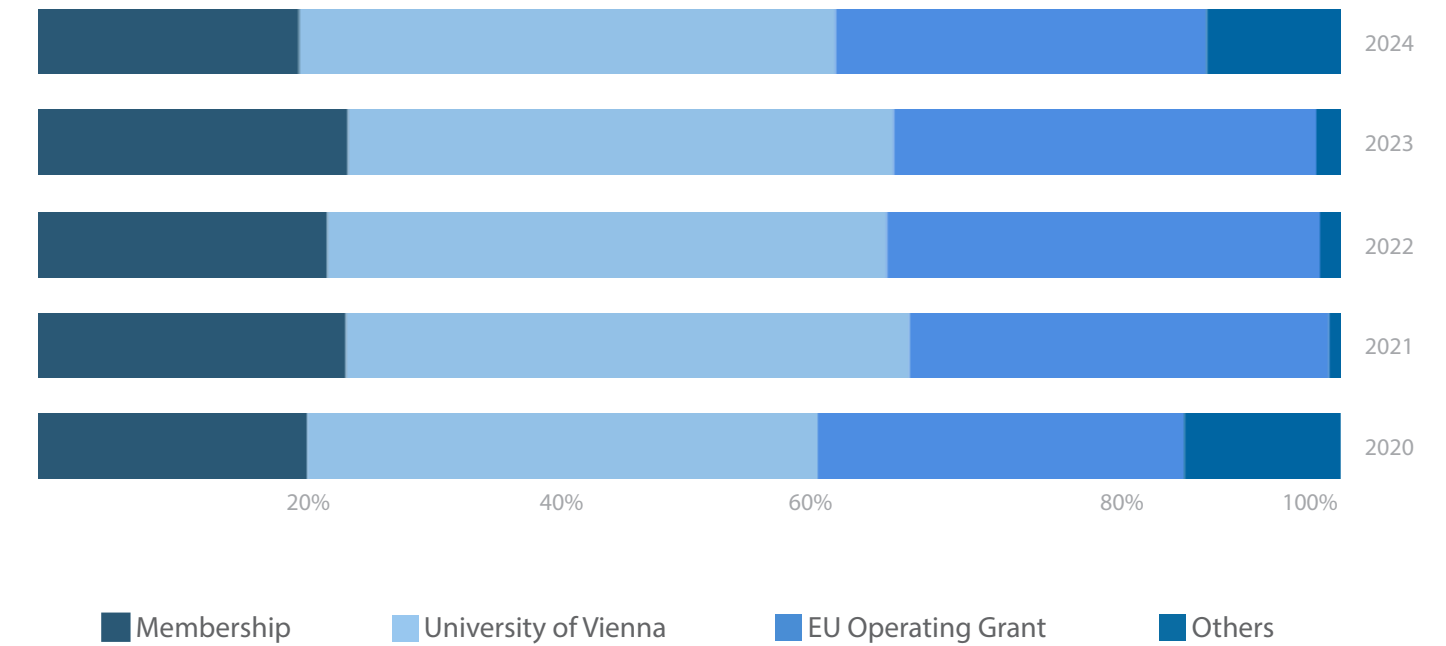

This diverse funding model underscores ELI's ongoing commitment to expanding its revenue base, ensuring its continued influence across Europe.

Institutional Membership

In line with its commitment to legal development, ELI actively seeks insights from a broad range of stakeholders. Its Institutional Members play a critical role, being regularly consulted to provide specialised expertise, advise on legal developments, and collaborate on projects. They help shape ELI's initiatives by ensuring its work remains informed and impactful. Their involvement also builds a network that connects ELI to policymakers, legal professionals, academics, and other thought leaders, enhancing its influence in advancing European legal standards. Through these contributions, Institutional Members are integral to ELI's mission of driving comprehensive legal development.

2nd ELI Member's Day

In recognition of the need for meaningful engagement of its Members in shaping its project portfolio, ELI hosted its second annual Members' Day. Launched in 2023, ELI Members' Day offers a platform outside the Institute's Annual Conference for Members to connect and engage. Held online each year to coincide with ELI's anniversary on 1 June, the event brings together participants to reflect on pressing legal issues at the forefront of European legal development.

On 3 June 2024, attendees gathered to explore 'The Future of Money'. Distinguished representatives from the European Central Bank, European Investment Bank, Banque de France, the High Committee for the Paris Finance Marketplace Working Group on the Evolution of the Concept of Money, the Bank of England, the Bank of Italy, the Jean Monnet Module for European Monetary Law, and the European Consumer Organisation convened virtually to examine the decline of cash and the rise of digital currencies.

Projects

ELI Reports

At the core of ELI's activities are its projects, which range from long-term initiatives to timely responses to legislative developments. These projects are marked by collaborative drafting, bringing together practitioners, judges, scholars, legal professionals, and stakeholders from diverse vocational and geographical backgrounds. Projects undergo thorough review and revision following ELI's deliberative processes and are ultimately approved by both the Council and the full Membership, ensuring that the perspectives of all sectors of the legal profession shape the law in a given field. This work is overseen by the Scientific Director, who ensures projects meet ELI's standards and objectives.

12th Annual Conference

Nearly 400 Participants

ELI's Annual Conference and Meetings play a crucial role in fulfilling the fifth aim of its Statute: fostering discussion and cooperation among jurists from diverse legal traditions. Held every autumn, the Conference brings together legal professionals and thought leaders to support ELI's efforts in European legal development, providing critical input on ongoing projects and reflections on key legal topics. The 12th Conference took place from 9–11 October at the Honorable Society of King's Inns and the Law Society of Ireland in Dublin. As the home of tech giants, Ireland naturally set the stage for the overarching theme of digitalisation and fundamental rights.

Representation

Engagements

The ELI Executive Committee and Secretary General actively represent the Institute at various events, both within the legal industry and in broader community settings. Their high-level interactions foster meaningful relationships with legal professionals, organisations, and policymakers, helping to strengthen ELI's position within the legal landscape. These engagements are instrumental in advancing ELI's efforts, ensuring that it remains visible and that its work remains pertinent, impactful, and aligned with contemporary legal developments.

One of ELI's key achievements in 2024 was ensuring continued access to legal literature for lawyers Ukraine. In partnership with leading publishers, ELI launched a legal library to provide up-to-date resources and offer support during the war.

The first shipment, featuring books from BundVerlag, Edward Elgar Publishing, Helbing Lichtenhahn, Mohr Siebeck, Otto Schmidt, Wydawnictwo Uniwersytetu Kardynała Stefana Wyszyńskiego, Nomos, CH Beck Poland, Wolters Kluwer, and International Law Book Facility (UK), coincided with the Sixth International Week at West Ukrainian National University's Faculty of Law, where the books are housed. ELI is indebted to these publishers and to Prof Dr Fryderyk Zoll for his support.

ELI's Satellite Groups

Hubs and Special Interest Groups (SIGs) offer valuable opportunities for ELI Members to connect locally, in their native language, or across specific sectors. While participation in ELI's country- and topic-specific groups is restricted to Members, their activities are accessible to the public. Hubs and SIGs provide platforms for discussing ongoing and upcoming projects, as well as fostering active debate on pressing legal developments. SIGs are primarily focused on identifying emerging trends and generating ideas for future initiatives, whereas Hubs play a pivotal role in translating ELI's reports to ensure broader local engagement. Additionally, Hubs contribute to bringing ELI's Annual Conference to their respective jurisdictions, raising awareness of ELI and its causes within the local legal profession. Both are essential to ELI's grassroots development.

ELI Social Media

ELI leverages social media to engage with its network of legal professionals, policy- and law-makers, and the wider public. The ELI Secretariat ensures regular updates on projects and events, broadening the Institute's reach. In 2024, these efforts successfully raised awareness of ELI's mission, fostering engagement and sparking discussions on key legal developments. Social media helped ELI connect with new audiences, and amplify its impact on shaping European legal discourse.
