The Voice of the European Legal Community

As an independent, democratic, membership-based organisation, ELI aims at improving the quality of the law, supporting its development and contributing to its proper implementation both at national, European and international levels. Its very considerable intellectual resources focus on the law not as it is, but as it should be.

span all branches of the law, is that it is open to ELI's entire membership of over 1,700 individuals and 160 institutions and external experts to shape their outcomes.

ELI was established in 2011. The idea for a European Law Institute was inspired by the activities of the American Law Institute (ALI), which was founded in 1923 and has since become a landmark institution in the American legal system. ELI serves a similar purpose within the European legal context, focusing on European legal development in a global context. Like its American counterpart, ELI also aims to unite jurists of the highest standing from all branches and professions of the law.

At the heart of ELI's activities are its projects, which can be long-term endeavours or timely reactions to legislative developments. Among the hallmarks of ELI projects, which

ELI Projects:

Serve Society

Seek to improve the law or facilitate its application for the benefit of society in Europe.

Are Practical

They are of immediate practical utility to legislative bodies, judiciaries or other interested parties.

Are Pan-European

They adopt a genuinely pan-European perspective, which takes due account of Europe's diverse legal traditions.

Roberta Metsola

PRESIDENT OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT

'ELI is an invaluable organisation that the European Parliament can rely on to attend to justice-related issues now, and in the future. [ELI's] achievements have paved the way for many more young professionals to help create a righteous, green and prosperous European future.'

Didier Reynders

EUROPEAN COMMISSIONER FOR JUSTICE

'ELI is an important stakeholder on which I know the European Commission can count to continue addressing the challenges in the field of justice.'

Koen Lenaerts

PRESIDENT OF THE COURT OF JUSTICE OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

'ELI has already established itself as a leading independent organisation whose scholarly work contributes to clarifying, modernising and otherwise improving European law, understood in a broad sense ... Most importantly, ELI gives new impetus to the comparative law method in the 21st century, a method of interpretation that enhances the legitimacy of the EU by interlocking European and national legal orders.'

Alexander Van der Bellen

AUSTRIAN PRESIDENT

'[ELI's] work programme is marked by a broad spectrum of topics and, above all, contains projects aiming at the development of the European legal order. Austria is proud to have been chosen as the seat of the ELI at the University of Vienna.'
